

Dallas-based Brad Oldham, Inc. designs and manufacturers lighting, hardware, tile, fine furnishings, architectural features and sculpture for restaurants, hotels, casinos, luxury retailers and private residences worldwide. The leadership of this ten-year-old company is comprised of artists and business professionals who cultivate opportunities to support and cooperate with one another and our clients to provide original skills and products.

As a lifetime artisan and two-decade veteran of the design industry, Brad Oldham provides the artistic vision for the company. But the company provides more than an outstanding craftsmanship with a signature look. Clients who partner with Brad Oldham, Inc. know:

Works collaboratively in the trenches. Rather than push our idea of “the perfect design,” we get to know each client and project in order to analyze each space in terms of, not only its design elements, but also its practical requirements. The company is guided by a strong collaborate product design philosophy.

Our collaborative philosophy not only produces results in unique designs, it also bolsters our accountability back to clients. The creativity and designs comes from Brad Oldham’s personal artistic direction, while the accountability is reinforced by the support of his team to manage the project estimates, budget, production and delivery of products.

Provides full-service design to delivery options, on scale. Clients working with our company don’t need to worry about shopping around. Our vertically integrated structure means every detail is taken care of - on time and on budget.

Brad Oldham, Inc. has extensive manufacturing relationships overseas, which enable us to provide proprietary products for specific projects at a cost comparable to what clients might spend on catalogue products. Because we have a full-service art studio as the heart of our business, we can also create pieces that are truly one-of-a-kind works of art. From one piece to ten thousand, our clients benefit from our ability to craft interior architectural elements in our studio or to tap our resources and relationships overseas.

Creates unique, useable pieces making art accessible. We like the end user of our products to consider – is it art or is it function? As a result of providing proprietary products in large doses, the opportunities to engage guests increases. Transforming utilitarian architectural pieces into art makes creativity and art that much more accessible.

Art is accessible and useful when it creates a uniquely livable and enjoyable space. Front door pulls can make a lasting impression – whether they’re simply beautiful or they operate with fluidity and ease. Seating can be incorporated into a free-standing sculpture to encourage viewers to take a break, or what initially presents as seats can be sculptures themselves. It is knowing how the space will be used that often inspires new levels of creativity.

It is through our commitment to collaboration, craftsmanship, and manufacturing from idea to finished product that Brad Oldham, Inc. stands to differentiate itself from other product designers and manufacturers.
